The Council Supports #MaskForNash

"The Nashville Health Care Council supports the effort to increase mask wearing in and around Nashville. While health care companies and front-line workers continue to fight the spread of COVID-19, mask wearing will protect those we care about and benefit the greater Nashville community. We're all in this together," said Hayley Hovious, president of the Nashville Health Care Council.

 Fellows NEWS & EVENTS

This year's Fellows class was unlike any other. The historic COVID-19 pandemic upended the class's format and required the first-ever virtual gatherings, it was also the type of moment that accentuated the value of the program for participants and their organizations alike. The Fellows program is designed to provide an opportunity to collaborate and share ideas, learn from industry leaders, and envision the future of health care. That purpose could never be more concrete, necessary and actionable than in the midst of an overnight reshaping of the industry.
